

Queensland Aboriginal and Islander Health Council (QAIHC)
Data Officer
Classification	Staff	Employment	Permanent Full Time	Salary	$78,030 + superannuation
Benefits	Attractive health promotion charity salary packaging	Reporting to	Manager, Research and Evidence	Manages Staff	No
Location	Brisbane	Contact	applications@qaihc.com.au	Close	Midnight Sunday 2nd September 2019

The Opportunity

The Queensland Aboriginal and Islander Health Council (QAIHC) is offering an opportunity to join a leadership organisation; in a position where you will work in an inspiring and positive environment to provide sector support, resources and training that will contribute to better Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health outcomes.

Organisation Overview

QAIHC is a non-partisan peak organisation representing all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled Health Organisations (ATSICCHOs) across Queensland at both state and national level. Our members deliver comprehensive and culturally appropriate, world class primary health care services to their communities.

QAIHC was established in 1990. Our vision is the elimination of disparities in health and well being experienced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in Queensland. QAIHC contributes to this vision by leading the development of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled Health Sector in Queensland through evidence based, practical public policy solutions.

QAIHC has four key business divisions:

- Sector Development;
- Policy and Research;
- Corporate Services; and
- Commercial.

Policy and Research Division Overview

The Policy and Research business division of QAIHC is responsible for developing high quality public policy, submissions and publications that influence change. Our four policy focus areas (primary health care, health service systems, health funding and health workforce) cover the risks and opportunities that impact on the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled Health Sector in Queensland.

This division of QAIHC is also responsible for ensuring that health service leaders in Queensland have an opportunity to contribute directly to the development of public policy and for establishing quality, long term relationships with external partners who want to contribute to the work QAIHC undertakes.

Sector Development Division Overview

The Sector Development business division of QAIHC works closely with the sector to lead and build the organisational capacity and capability of our members. Our four sector development focus areas cover the risks and opportunities that impact on the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled Health Sector in Queensland. We develop the sector through leadership development, education, workforce planning, a Continuous Quality Improvement framework (quality standards and quality management) and through the promotion of a socially equitable funding model and system.

Corporate Services Overview

The Corporate Services business division of QAIHC provides high level entity-wide administrative and operational support to all of QAIHC. This support includes financial, facility and information and communication technology (ICT) systems and process management. The Corporate Services business division is responsible for human resource support services, procurement and the marketing and communication functions of QAIHC.

Commercial Overview

The Commercial Services business division of QAIHC consists of the Business Quality Centre (BQC). This entity is the commercial business area of QAIHC. It provides fee-for-service professional financial, human resources and information and communication technology services to a wide range of external customers.

Position Overview

The role of the Data Officer is to provide high quality, accurate and practical advice in relation to the analysis, interpretation and presentation of data contained in QAIHC's Health Information database and QAIHC's Member Services' Electronic Medical Records. The Data Officer operates as part of the Health Information Team within the Policy and Research Division

Key Responsibilities

As part of a small and respected team, you will be required to:

- Analyse, interpret and use varied evidence sources to identify and report on data trends at local, regional and state-wide levels;
- Provide commentary on health information data to guide system and performance improvements;
- Integrate health information data with secondary data sources and collaborate with the QAIHC Research team on research projects (internal and external);
- Deliver health information data and reports to relevant QAIHC stakeholders and more broadly within the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled sector;
- Ensure that the systems and resources used meet evolving needs; and make recommendations where appropriate for continual improvement;
- Deliver training sessions, webinars and one on one support relating to data requirements and best practice.

What we are looking for

We will assess your merit for this role by looking at what you've done previously – the leadership, knowledge, skills and experience you've built and your personal qualities. We'll consider how well you can:

- Analyse, interpret and present data;
- Actively influence and promote ideas;
- Manage stakeholders and relationships; and
- Understand the job context and environment.

Pre-requisite Skills & Experience

- This position has been identified - it is an occupational requirement that this position be filled by an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person as permitted and arguable under Section 25 of the Queensland Anti-Discrimination Act 1991.
- Relevant qualifications and experience in data science, auditing, analysis and data management;
- Extensive experience working with extraction tools and Electronic Medical Records systems;
- Understanding and experience of data reporting methods;
- Experience with Tableau is highly desirable, and a high level of expertise in Microsoft Excel is required;
- Exceptional relationship skills and an ability to engage with a broad range of stakeholders;
- Advanced communication and interpersonal skills;

- Highly developed influential writing skills;
- Understanding of the ATSI CCHOs and the issues facing them;
- Demonstrated experience of working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities and their leaders, respecting traditional culture, values and ways of doing business;

Additional information

- A probationary period of six (6) months will apply to appointees.
- Referee checking will be undertaken and other pre-employment checks may occur prior to any offer of employment.
- Criminal history checks will be undertaken on the preferred applicant(s). A criminal conviction or charge will not automatically exclude an applicant from consideration for appointment. If information is received that may exclude you from further consideration, you will be given an opportunity to respond and your response will be taken into account in the evaluation process.
- The recommended applicant will be required to disclose any serious disciplinary action taken against them.
- Applications will remain current for a period of 12 months after the closing date for receipt of applications for the original vacancy.

Interested in applying?

Roles at QAIHC are based on merit. To enable us to assess your merit, you should apply via email at applications@qaihc.com.au

- Include your current resume, including the name and contact details of two (2) referees with a thorough knowledge of your conduct and performance over the last two (2) years
- Provide a short statement (of no more than two (2) pages) demonstrating how you fit 'What we are looking for' (including how you meet the Key Responsibilities and Pre-requisite Skills & Experience) in this role and outlining what your motivation is to join us.

Applications are required by midnight on Sunday 2nd September 2019.